March of Dimes Gets $10,352.28 in Ulster Campaign

Kingston's Contribution Is $4,008.63 to Aid Infantile Paralysis Sufferers

Ulster county contributed a total of $10,352.28 to the 1947 March of Dimes campaign. It was announced at a meeting of the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the Stuyvesant Hotel Friday night.

Kingston contributed $4,008.63 and communities outside of the city $6,766.11, the report showed. Ellenville came through with the next highest sum among the communities in the county with a contribution of $3,734.85.

Saugerties contributed $778.37 and New Paltz $624.35. Lee Schmid, state representative of the foundation, who addressed the members of the local chapter stressed the point that "Although money is raised just once a year in January, year round services for infantile paralysis patients of Ulster county is always available."

This service, he said, covers hospital costs, transportation, care and treatment and purchase of equipment necessary for modern treatment in a hospital within a patient's reach.

The fund also provides for "Payment for professional services necessary for adequate care, provision of braces, wheelchairs and other orthopedic appliances, as well as regular medical checkups for as long as necessary."

Preparedness Talk Mr. Schmid gave detailed instructions of the functioning of the foundation and in which way it can best meet emergencies when poliomyelitis strikes a victim in Ulster county. Each working member was given to understand what his particular position covered and how best it can be worked to form a solid unit when a polio case is brought to the attention of the county chapter.

"This is our way of preparedness," Mr. Schmid said. "When necessary the workers in health departments, crippled children's services and vocational rehabilitation bureau will pool ideas and knowledge of available facilities with local chapter executives, and

Three Upstate Cities Are Affected by Service Halt Over Contract

Binghamton, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Bus drivers in the triple cities struck today for an improved contract, eliminating public transportation by Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City.

About 130,000 persons live in the three communities. The walkout followed an early morning meeting at which the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees (A.F.L.) voted confidence in their leaders and thus affirmed an earlier strike vote. The leaders had reported on negotiations, which broke down last night.

The 230 drivers and maintenance men seek liberalized overtime provisions, larger pensions, sick leave benefits, night work premium pay, and paid holidays.

Verdict as to Cause Withheld Pending Completion of An Autopsy

Victor A. Hungerford, Sr., about 60, of Church street, New Paltz, died under mysterious circumstances last evening shortly after he had left the New Paltz Tavern, conducted by Willard Mertine on Main street.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn ordered an autopsy performed today. There was no evidence of foul play, Mr. Bruhn said.

Hungerford, according to the investigation conducted by District Attorney Bruhn and County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburg, entered the tavern around 7:30 o'clock and after being served several glasses of beer left around 8:45 o'clock saying he was going to the American Legion.

Around 10 o'clock an employee at the tavern went outside to get ginger ale from a storehouse and found Mr. Hungerford leaning against the building near the rear entrance. Mertine asked Arnold Van Leuven, a local truckman who was in the place to take the ill man home but Mr. Van Leuven was unable to since his truck was fully loaded. The services of Vincent LoCascio were enlisted and the ill man was placed in the LoCascio car and with Alton Hasbrouck, Van Leuven and Mr. Bollin, Hungerford was taken home. On arrival it was found the house was locked and before entrance was gained, it was found Mr. Hungerford had apparently died.

Dr. DeWitt was notified and pronounced the man dead. Deputy Sheriff Leonard Newkirk of New Paltz was called and the sheriff's office notified. Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson was called and the body was taken to the Pine Funeral Home where an autopsy was directed performed by Doctors DeWitt and J. S. Taylor.

A verdict as to the cause of death was withheld pending completion of the autopsy.

Mail Deliveries Cut

Albany, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Several upstate communities were getting along today with less than their usual mail service, because operating funds had run low. Expenditures have outstripped quarterly allotments, postmasters reported, and this, said irate congressmen, is the fault of the postmasters, not of Congress. Syracuse business districts had usual service, but the post office predicted one-delivery days for residential sections, pending receipt July 1 of the next quarterly allotment. Binghamton begins a one-delivery schedule Monday for five days a week. Other communities eliminated Saturday deliveries, or one afternoon trip a week. Among them were Utica, Endicott, Elmira, Ithaca and Hornell.

Russia Heads U. N. Drive for Making Palestine Free

Soviet Demands Proposed Commission Submit Plan Without Delay for Holy Land

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.
Lake Success, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Russia spearheaded a drive in the United Nations today aimed at giving Palestine full independence possibly within six months.

Continuing debate on the Holy Land issue at 11 a. m. (E.D.T.), the 55-nation political committee was faced with a Soviet demand that a proposed United Nations inquiry commission submit a plan for "establishing without delay the independent state of Palestine."

Should the Russian proposal be included in the inquiry group's terms of reference, the commission would specifically be instructed to submit a plan to the regular session of the assembly for action in September.

If the assembly then approved the plan Palestine would be declared an independent state—provided, of course, that Great Britain—which holds the Holy Land under a League of Nations mandate—accepted the decision.

The Soviet proposal appeared due to draw the fire of the United States and Britain. They want merely to give the inquiry commission broad instructions and evade specific terms.

But the Arab states and possibly India were ready to back the Soviet proposal.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia's chief U. N. delegate, tossed the issue to the political committee yesterday in the midst of preliminary discussions of instructions for the investigating body.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister also insisted that the group

Brand New Labor Bill by Democrats

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today clung to a hope the Senate can reach a final vote Monday on labor legislation, including a brand new bill fashioned by Democrats to win President Truman's approval.

The new measure is sponsored by Senator Murray (D-Mont.) and 10 other Democrats. He offered it at a Senate session last night as a substitute for the more stringent labor disputes bill backed by Taft, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

Murray, a leader of the thus far unsuccessful fight against the Taft bill, told the Senate the new measure carries out "all the recommendations" of Mr. Truman on labor legislation, and covers some other matters as well. It is considerably milder than the committee bill which several Democrats have predicted the President would veto.

Introduction of the Murray bill brought an angry protest from Taft, who accused its sponsors of "completely dilatory" tactics in waiting through 11 days of Senate debate on labor legislation to introduce the measure.

Taft said he felt he would be "justified" in moving to table the bill, which would have the effect of killing it.

Recess Is Taken In '41 Auto Crash Case Till Monday

Testimony Is Concluded. Summations, Charge Will Be Given to Jury Next

Testimony in the five negligence actions arising out of a collision between a car of Dorothy Brady and a car operated by Isaac L. Merrihew on route 9-W north of Kingston in July 29, 1941, was concluded Friday and Justice Schirick recessed the court until Monday when summations and charge will be given and the case finally submitted to the jury.

James Tirrell seeks $150,000 damages, alleging permanent injuries; James P. Roach, administrator of the estate of Kathryn Roach, seeks $25,000 for the death of the girl who was a passenger in the Brady car. Miss Brady seeks damages for personal injuries and for the damage done her car while Mr. Merrihew and the Woodstock-Kingston Bus Corporation, owner of the car Merrihew was driving, seeks $1,000 damages each.

Friday Mr. Merrihew was sworn for defense and testified he was driving out the Saugerties road with his wife and small son to "give his dogs a run" out in the country. He was proceeding northward at about 35 to 40 miles an hour in the easterly lane when he saw a truck coming down the center lane toward him and another car out on the easterly lane "side by side." He estimated the speed of the truck at about 40 miles an hour. Merrihew said he turned his car to the right off the roadway and into the drive leading to Rose Marie cabins when he observed the driver of the Brady car "appeared she was going to continue on in the easterly lane." Then the driver of that car turned in the driveway too.

Merrihew said he had turned off the roadway some 75 to 100 feet at the southerly end of the drive and was proceeding about 10 to 15 miles an hour when the impact came.

Conflicting Testimony The Brady car swung off the roadway between two poles after the Merrihew car had already turned off the roadway and into the driveway. He estimated the speed of the Brady car at 35 miles an hour as the cars came together. Witnesses for Miss Brady had previously testified the Brady car was stopped when the impact came.

Mr. Merrihew said the Brady car skidded around after the impact to its left and "tipped up and hit the left side and rear" of the Merrihew car. It was the right rear of the Brady car which struck the Merrihew vehicle, he said. The cars were some 35 feet off the cement roadway when the collision took place.

Cross examined Mr. Merrihew said traffic was quite heavy and he had noticed cars in the westerly lane and he approached, the truck was in the westerly lane and the Brady car was in the easterly lane. He said his car was some 150 feet from the Brady car when he turned off the road to the drive to allow the Brady car to proceed on south on the easterly lane.

Girl Thrown Out At the impact the right door of the Brady car opened and Miss Roach was thrown out. He assisted in picking her up and placing her in a car which took her to the hospital.

Mr. Merrihew's testimony concluded the case on behalf of the defendants Merrihew and Woodstock Bus Company.

Testimony was then offered regarding employment of James Tirrell. From August 1943 to April 1945 he was employed by Electrol, Inc., as an office assistant. The records showed he had lost no time from work, it being explained by George D. Logan, witness, that office help was not

George Says Four Billion Income Tax Cut Leaves Nothing for Public Debt

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Washington, May 10 (AP)—Senator George (D-Ga.) declared today a $4,000,000,000-a-year income tax cut approved by the Senate Finance Committee would leave no surplus to pay on the $258,000,000,000 public debt.

The measure, slashing levies 30 to 10.5 per cent, was voted over George's protest that action should be delayed until Congress has a better idea what next year's government spending will be.

It would be effective July 1 instead of retroactive to last January 1, the date fixed in the House bill, and would limit the cut on incomes in the range of $49,728 to $302,396 to 15 per cent instead of the House version's 20 per cent.

George was defeated in a motion to delay the effective date until next January 1 and finally joined the committee's seven Republican members yesterday in voting to send the bill to the floor, where he reserved the right to oppose it.

The other five Democrats on the committee voted against the bill.

Robeson Is Ready For Speaking Tour Against Fascism

1,200 Hear Negro Sing in Albany; Budenz, ex-Red Attracts 1,500 to Talk

Albany, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Paul Robeson, self described "anti-Fascist," whose right to sing in an Albany school was contested unsuccessfully in court, was ready today, he said, for a two-year political barnstorming career, free of professional concert engagements.

The Negro baritone sang to an audience of 1,200 at nearby Siena College.

Simultaneously, the Rev. Joseph T. O'Callahan, Catholic priest who won the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin, also spoke before a large Albany audience.

Robeson told newsmen he had prepared financially for a respite in his professional career, that he might sing and speak freely in support of his political views. He pointed out the "propaganda" flavor of some of the encores which he gave in response to enthusiastic applause and said he would devote his talents for the next two years to "fighting Fascism." The recital was the last of his sort for two years, he said.

Aided by Court A Supreme Court order prohibiting the Albany Board of Education from interfering with "a musical concert." The board had sought to withdraw permission for the event after the House Committee on Un-American Affairs had reported that Robeson was prominent in an organization it described as Communist-inspired.

Robeson, who asked the singer whether he were a Communist drew Robeson's reply that he was "an anti-Fascist," and the observation that any other answer might be misinterpreted.

Raps Communism Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker who forsook Communism for Catholicism two years ago, told his audience meanwhile that "the only reason for the existence of a Communist party in the United States is to serve the wishes of the Soviet dictators."

"Intellectual degradation is evident in all Communist leaders outside of Russia," Budenz declared. Father O'Callahan recommended that the audience "as a basis for solving labor problems."

The ex-chaplain said "you could go a long way in correcting labor and management troubles if leaders on both sides recognized they are dealing with human beings, with human rights and human sensibilities."

Robeson's appearance was sponsored by a Negro church group.

His program included Negro spirituals, traditional melodies from various countries and operatic selections.

Among his encores were battle songs from republican Spain, from Russia and China.

The first of the autograph seekers to reach him afterward offered hasty congratulations for singing about "the resistance."

Double Daylight Time

Berlin, May 10 (AP)—Germans tomorrow will go on double daylight time, putting them eight hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time.

The measure is an amended version of House Bill No. 1, which started out as a 20 per cent across-the-board reduction sponsored by Ways and Means Committee Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.). The House finally approved a bill with graduated reductions ranging from 30 to 10.5 per cent, and retroactive to last January 1.

The most important change made by the Senate committee was delaying the effective date six months.

New withholding rates would take effect July 1 if the Senate version becomes law. The withheld tax for most wage and salary earners would go down to 30 or 20 per cent then, depending on the income bracket. But next March, when the taxpayer makes out his return for calendar 1947, he would find his cut only 15 or 10 per cent.

In his return for 1948, however, he would get the full benefit. This is the schedule of rate cuts voted by the senators.

March of Dimes Gets $10,352.28 in Ulster Campaign

Kingston's Contribution Is $1,008.63 to Aid Infantile Paralysis Sufferers

Ulster county contributed a total of $10,352.28 to the 1947 March of Dimes campaign. It was announced at a meeting of the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the Stuyvesant Hotel Friday night.

Kingston contributed $1,008.63 and contributors outside of the city $9,343.65, the report showed. The wide range through with the next highest sum among the contributors in the county with a contribution of $4,741.85.

Sufferers contributed $7,783.37 and New Paltz $6,125.55. Louis Schmal, state representative of the foundation, who addressed the members of the local chapter, stressed the point that "although money is raised just once a year in January, year-round services for infantile paralysis patients of Ulster county are always available."

This service, he said, covers hospital costs, transportation, care and treatment and purchase of equipment necessary for modern treatment in a hospital within a patient's reach.

The fund also provides for "payment of professional services necessary for adequate care, provision of braces, wheelchairs and other orthopedic appliances, as well as regular medical checkups or other services as necessary."

Preparedness Talk
Mr. Schmal gave a detailed account of the functioning of the foundation, and in which way it met the emergency when children are stricken with the disease.

He said that each working member was given to understand and know the position covered and how to be put on the work to form a self-unit when a patient is brought to the attention of the county chapter.

This is one way of preparedness, Mr. Schmal said. "When necessary the workers in health departments, crippled children's services and vocational rehabilitation bureau will pool ideas and knowledge of available facilities with local chapter executives, and proceed to Page Seven."

Around 10 o'clock an employee at the tavern went outside to get ginger ale from a storehouse and found Mr. Hungerford leaning against the building near the rear entrance. Mertine asked Arnold Van Leuven, a local truckman who was in the place to take the ill man home but Mr. Van Leuven was unable to since his truck was fully loaded. The services of Vincent LaCasce were enlisted and the ill man was placed in the LaCasce car and with Alton Rosencorn, Van Leuven and a Mr. Bolter, Hungerford was taken home. On arrival it was found the house was locked and before entrance was gained, it was found Mr. Hungerford had apparently died.

Dr. DeWitt was notified and pronounced the man dead. Deputy Sheriff Leonard Newkirk of New Paltz was called and the sheriff's office notified. Coroner Arthur Chapp of Kerhonkson was called and the body was taken to the Pine Funeral Home where an autopsy was directed performed by Doctors DeWitt and J. S. Taylor.

A verdict as to the cause of death was withheld pending completion of the autopsy.

Russia Heads U.N. Drive for Making Palestine Free

Soviet Demands Proposed Commission Submit Plan Without Delay for Holy Land

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.
Lakewood, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Russia spearheaded a drive in the United Nations today aimed at giving Palestine full independence possibly within six months.

Continuing debate on the Holy Land issue at 11 a. m. (E.D.T.), the 55-nation political committee was faced with a Soviet demand that a proposed United Nations inquiry commission submit a plan for "establishing without delay the independent state of Palestine."

Should the Russian proposal be included in the inquiry group's terms of reference, the commission would specifically be instructed to submit a plan to the regular session of the assembly for action in September.

If the assembly then approved the plan Palestine would be declared an independent state—provided, of course, that Great Britain—which holds the Holy Land mandate—accepted the decision.

Most delegates agreed that it would probably be a long, hard road before Palestine is actually declared an independent state.

The Soviet proposal appeared due to draw the fire of the United States and Britain. They want merely to give the inquiry commission broad instructions and evade specific terms.

But the Arab states and possibly India were ready to back the Soviet proposal.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia's chief U. N. delegate, tossed the issue to the political committee yesterday in the midst of preliminary discussions of instructions for the investigating body.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister also insisted that the group Continued on Page Seven

Brand New Labor Bill by Democrats

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today clung to a hope the Senate can reach a final vote Monday on labor legislation, including a brand new bill fashioned by Democrats to win President Truman's approval.

The new measure is sponsored by Senator Murray (D-Mont.) and 10 other Democrats. He offered it at a Senate session last night as a substitute for the more stringent labor disputes bill backed by Taft, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

Murray, a leader of the thus far unsuccessful fight against the Taft bill, told the Senate the new measure carries over "all the recommendations" of Mr. Truman on labor legislation, and covers some other matters as well. It is considerably milder than the committee bill which several Democrats have predicted the President would veto.

Introduction of the Murray bill brought an angry protest from Taft, who accused its sponsors of "completely dilatory" tactics in waiting through 11 days of Senate debate on labor legislation to introduce the measure.

Taft said he felt he would be "justified" in moving to table the bill, which would have the effect of killing it.

Recess Is Taken In '41 Auto Crash Case Till Monday

Testimony Is Concluded, Summations, Charge Will Be Given to Jury Next

Testimony in the five negligence actions arising out of a collision between a car of Dorothy Brady and a car operated by Isaac L. Merrihew on route 9-W north of Kingston in July 29, 1941, was concluded Friday and Justice Schirck recessed the court until Monday when summations and charge will be given and the case finally submitted to the jury.

James Tirrell seeks $150,000 damages, alleging permanent injuries; James P. Roach, administrator of the estate of Kathryn Roach, seeks $25,000 for the death of the girl who was a passenger in the Brady car. Miss Brady seeks damages for personal injuries and for the damage done her car while Mr. Merrihew and the Woodstock-Kingston Bus Corporation, owner of the car Merrihew was driving, seeks $1,000 damages each.

Friday Mr. Merrihew was sworn for defense and testified he was driving out on the Saugerties road with his wife and small son to "give his dogs a run" out in the country. He was proceeding northwardly at about 35 to 40 miles an hour in the easterly lane when he saw a truck coming down the center lane toward him and another car out on the easterly lane "side by side." He estimated the speed of the cars at about 40 miles an hour. Merrihew said he turned his car to the right off the roadway and into the drive leading to Rose Marie cabins when he observed the driver of the Brady car "appeared she was going to continue on in the easterly lane." Then the driver of that car turned in the driveway too.

Merrihew said he had turned off the roadway some 75 to 100 feet at the southerly end of the drive and was proceeding about 10 to 15 miles an hour when the impact came.

Conflicting Testimony
The Brady car swung off the roadway between two poles after Merrihew car had already turned off the roadway and into the driveway. He estimated the speed of the Brady car at 35 miles an hour as the cars came together. Witnesses for Miss Brady had previously testified the Brady car was stopped when the impact came.

Mr. Merrihew said the Brady car skidded backward after the impact to its left and "tipped up and hit the left side and rear" of the Merrihew car. It was the right rear of the Brady car which struck the Merrihew vehicle, he said. The cars were some 35 feet off the cement roadway when the collision took place.

Cross examined, Mr. Merrihew said traffic was quite heavy and he had noticed cars in the westerly lane and he approached the truck was in the center lane and the Brady car was in the easterly lane. He said his car was some 150 feet from the Brady car when he turned off the road to the driveway to allow the Brady car to proceed on south on the easterly lane.

Girl Thrown Out
At the impact the right door of the Brady car opened and Miss Roach was thrown out. He assisted in picking her up and placing her in a car which took her to the hospital.

Mr. Merrihew's testimony concluded, he argued on behalf of the defendants Merrihew and Woodstock Bus Company.

Testimony was then offered regarding employment of James Tirrell. From August 1943 to April 1945 he was employed by Electrical, Inc., as an office assistant. The records showed he had lost no time from work, it being explained by George D. Logan, witness, that office help was not Continued on Page Seven

Robeson Is Ready For Speaking Tour Against Fascism

1,200 Hear Negro Sing in Albany; Budenz, ex-Red Attracts 1,500 to Talk

Albany, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Paul Robeson, self described "anti-Fascist," whose right to sing in an Albany school was contested unsuccessfully in court, was ready today, he said, for a two-year political barnstorming career, free of professional concert engagements.

The Negro baritone sang to an audience of 1,200 at nearby Siena College.

Simultaneously, the Rev. Joseph P. O'Callahan, Catholic priest who won the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin, also spoke before a large Albany audience.

Robeson told newsmen he had prepared financially for a respite in his professional career, that he might sing and speak freely in support of his political views. He pointed out the "propaganda" flattery of some of the encores which he gave in response to enthusiastic applause and said he would devote his talents for the next two years to "fighting Fascism." The remark was the last of its sort for two years, he said.

Aided by Court
A Supreme Court order prohibiting the Albany Board of Education from interfering with "a musical concert" The board had sought withdrawal permission for the event after the House Committee on Un-American Affairs had reported that Robeson was prominent in an organization it described as Communist-inspired.

A reporter who asked the singer whether he was a Communist drew Robeson's reply that he was "in anti-Fascist," and the observation that any other answer might be misinterpreted.

Raps Communism
Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker who forsook Communism for Catholicism two years ago, told his audience meanwhile that "the only reason for the existence of a Communist party in the United States is to serve the wishes of the Soviet dictators."

Intellectual degradation is widespread in all Communist leaders outside of Russia," Budenz declared. Father O'Callahan recommended "respect for the individual" as a basis for solving labor problems.

The ex-chaplain said "you could go a long way in correcting labor and management troubles if leaders on both sides recognized they are dealing with human beings with human rights and human responsibilities."

Robeson's appearance was sponsored by a Negro church group. His program included Negro spirituals, traditional melodies from various countries and operatic selections.

Among his encores were battle songs from republican Spain, from Russia and China.

The first of the photograph seekers to reach him afterward offered hasty congratulations for singing about "the resistance."

Greek-Turkish Aid Bill Sealed With Approval Today

Only Routine Steps Remain for Stream of American Men, Money, Material

By ALEX SINGLETON
Washington, March 10 (AP)—The administration's $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid measure was sealed with overwhelming congressional approval today.

Only routine steps remained to start a stream of American men, money and material into the two Mediterranean nations to ward off Communist encroachment.

Overriding attempt after attempt to modify its terms, the House early last night joined the Senate in endorsing this new peacetime foreign policy, committing United States resources to stabilize internal affairs of countries outside the western hemisphere.

The House action on final passage came on a roll call vote of 287 to 107.

A coalition of 127 Republicans and 150 Democrats upheld the measure. Against it were recorded 93 Republicans, 13 Democrats and Rep. Marcantonio of New York, lone House member of the American Labor Party. The measure passed the Senate April 22 by a vote of 67 to 22.

The bill goes back to the Senate today now. Presumably a joint House-Senate conference committee will be formed to work out the differences.

They are minor, and there appeared little doubt on Capitol Hill that agreement would be reached and the measure sped to President Truman's desk early next week.

These are the differences:
1. The Senate version has a preamble, not voted by the House, holding that the purposes of the aid program conform with those of the United Nations charter.

2. The House bill adds a requirement that civilians sent to the two countries to help administer the program be screened by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Low Weather Records Are Smashed Again

New York, May 10 (AP)—Weather bureau records for low May temperatures here were broken for the third consecutive day today when, at 6:45 a. m. the mercury dipped to 37.5. The May 10, 1900, record of 37.7 went by the boards.

Yesterday, an early morning reading of 34 degrees wiped out a mark of 38.9 set on May 9, 1923. On Thursday, a reading of 36 degrees broke a 38-degree record set on May 8, 1898.

The prospect for warmer weather was not encouraging according to the weather bureau today.

Today's highest temperature was likely to be 50 degrees, but again tonight temperatures will drop, although they are not expected to be as low as on the last three nights, the bureau said. A night low of 43 degrees was forecast, with 36 in the suburbs.

After reaching a high of 47 degrees yesterday afternoon, the temperature dropped gradually until by 5 a. m. today it was down to 38 degrees, where it stayed through six o'clock, and then shaded off for the new record.

The highest temperature ever recorded on any May 10 was the 91 established in 1896. Normal for the day is 59 degrees.

Firemen's Efforts in Vain as Interior of Bus Is a Mass of Flames

Twenty-three passengers aboard a Greyhound bus bound from Kingston to New York city escaped injury last evening when the bus was destroyed by fire near Holy Cross Church at West Park. The driver of the bus, Joseph Anthony Beette, 30, of Long Island City was operating the bus southwardly when he observed smoke as he looked into the rear-view mirror.

Beette stopped the bus and told the passengers to leave. The bus was trapped by the unseasonal cold. In all 36 ships were caught in the ice near Buffalo. (NEA Telephoto).

A moment after the last passenger left the bus the interior burst into flame. The fire was discovered about 7:25 o'clock. Esopus fire department was notified but the fire burned so rapidly that it was impossible to extinguish the flames and the bus was practically destroyed although the motor at the rear was not too badly damaged.

Beette told State Troopers that he believed the gas line was leaking and that the fire was most intense about the middle of the bus where the fire apparently started.

The flames fed by gasoline were so intense that wires of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation were damaged and service interrupted. Temporary service was restored about midnight. The fire was investigated by Corporal Reilly, Corporal Viskochil and Trooper Rasmussen of the Highland station.

Discuss Current Issues
Indianapolis, May 10 (AP)—Republican leaders from 17 midwest and far west states moved today from informal overnight lobby talk about a 1948 presidential candidate into a closed business session for discussion of current issues in Congress. Spokesmen for the group's policy committee predicted resolutions would be adopted before nightfall on such timely questions as tax reduction, budget-cutting, labor legislation and aid to Greece and Turkey.

To Return to Jobs
Atlanta, May 10 (AP)—Their strike at an end, telephone workers in nine southern states prepared today to return to the jobs they left 33 days ago. But whether the switchboards would at once be fully manned in all cities was a matter of conjecture. In making peace, the striking union, the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers (independent of service through its Vice President, H. F. Tweedy, that picket lines maintained by striking affiliates would be honored by its members.

Mortgage Record
$24,600,000,000 Debt on American Homes Is Largest Ever

Washington, May 10 (AP)—American homes are carrying a $24,600,000,000 mortgage debt, the biggest in history.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Administration, which issued the estimate today, said the sum is 15 per cent greater than the previous peak in 1930.

The housing shortage, "resulting often in forced purchases," and the revival of large scale home building after wartime restrictions contributed to the rise, the agency reported.

George Says Four Billion Income Tax Cut Leaves Nothing for Public Debt

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Senator George (D-Ga.) declared today a $4,000,000,000-a-year income tax cut approved by the Senate Finance Committee would leave no surplus to pay on the $258,000,000,000 public debt.

The measure, slashing levies 30 to 10.5 per cent, was voted over George's protest that action should be delayed until Congress has a better idea what next year's government spending will be.

It would be effective July 1 instead of retroactive to last January 1, the date fixed in the House bill, and would limit the cut on incomes in the range of $49,728 to $302,396 to 15 per cent instead of the House version's 20 per cent.

George was defeated in a motion to delay the effective date until next January 1 and finally joined the committee's seven Republican members yesterday in voting to send the bill to the floor, where he reserved the right to oppose it.

The other five Democrats on the committee voted against the bill.

The measure is an amended version of House Bill No. 1, which started out as a 20 per cent across-the-board reduction sponsored by Ways and Means Committee Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.). The House finally approved a bill with graduated reductions ranging from 10 to 10.5 per cent, and retroactive to last January 1.

The most important change made by the Senate committee was: delaying the effective date six months.

New withholding rates would take effect July 1 if the Senate version becomes law. The withheld tax for most wage and salary earners would go down to 30 or 20 per cent then, depending on the income bracket. But next March, when the taxpayer makes out his return for calendar 1947, he would find his cut-over the whole year figures out only 15 or 10 per cent.

In his return for 1948, however, he would get the full benefit.

This is the schedule of rate cuts worked by the senators:
Thirty per cent off for persons with net incomes, after exemptions and deductions, of $1,000 or less; 30 to 20 per cent on incomes from $1,000 to $1,396; 20 per cent on incomes from $1,396 to $79,728; 15 per cent on incomes from $79,728 to $302,396; 10.5 per cent on all above $302,396.

The Senate committee wrote in the 15 per cent bracket. The House had spread the 20 per cent reduction over all incomes between $1,396 and $302,396.

In addition, taxpayers over 65 years of age would get an extra $500 exemption, regardless of whether they had income, such as Social Security benefits, otherwise exempt from tax.

Chairman Malin (R-Colo.) said he expects to draft a report and send the bill formally to the Senate about next Wednesday. It has right of way there after the pending labor bill and a $350,000,000 foreign relief measure.

George estimated it will take two weeks to clear the tax cut through the Senate, and two more to get it through a conference with the House.

What the final bill's fate may be when it reached the White House is uncertain, but President Truman has told Congress repeatedly he thinks reduction of the public debt should come before tax-cutting.

300 Home Bureau
Members Attend
Achievement Talk

Influence of Good Home
Living Is Stressed;
Varied Program
at New Paltz

Miss Frances Scudder, state leader of home demonstration agents, spoke on Wednesday to more than 300 Home Bureau members and their friends at the county-wide Achievement Day program held at the American Legion Hall in New Paltz, one of the many activities sponsored by the Home Bureau groups to celebrate National Home Demonstration Week. Miss Scudder was introduced by Mrs. David DuBois, chairman of the program.

In her talk, "Looking Ahead in Extension," Miss Scudder emphasized the influence of good home living and how it can affect others in daily living and in community and national and international responsibilities. She stressed how important it is for Home Bureau members to strengthen their own lives and enrich them through the information and understandings provided by the Home Bureau program and activities. She recognized the great contribution of local leadership and pointed out how it is carried over into other organizations.

Mrs. Frank Boudreau, a representative of the Associated Women of the World to the United Nations, spoke to the group about her experience in delegating to the F.A.O. meeting in Quebec, and to the Hunter College and Lake Success meetings. Mrs. Boudreau explained that each Home Bureau woman is a member of the Associated Countrywomen of the World through the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus. The Associated Countrywomen of the World act as consultants to the United Nations on the status of women. Mrs. Boudreau emphasized that all members should take active part in world-wide problems and constructive criticism would be welcomed.

Fashion Show, Skits

Mrs. Devitt Crowell, the county chairman of clothing, was in charge of the fashion show during which the women who made cotton dresses, tailored suits and coats modeled them.

Skits featuring some of the projects taught in the Home Bureau classes were put on by the members of the Woodstock unit.

Mrs. William Powers, county chairman of the membership, congratulated the group for exceeding the goal, and announced that the present membership is 1014. Four units and two new study clubs were formed last year. They are Plank Road Community, Rosendale, Tilton and High Falls units and the C. C. and Milton Child Study Clubs.

Mrs. Gershom Mount of Ardonia announced that a bus will take all those interested in attending the Eastern District Federation meeting in Riverhead on May 20-21, and she is accepting reservations through May 14.

Mrs. Graham Parish of Lake Katrine reminded the group about the Scholarship Fund and its aim of assisting girls who wish to take the Extension Service and urged each one to remember her contribution of ten cents.

Mrs. Raymond Cunningham was the pianist during the day's activities. Mrs. Arthur Kurtz sang a solo, "The Home Bureau Song," the words of which were written by Mrs. Edward Young, Sr., of Milton. Mrs. Herman Glanz led the women in group singing.

The hostesses for the day were the women of the New Paltz unit who acted as ushers and assumed responsibility for flower arrangements.

Luncheon was served by the Guild of the Dutch Reformed Church.

18 Units Exhibit

Eighteen units had exhibits of work from their last year's projects on the first floor of the American Legion hall. The units having exhibits were: Centerville, Ellenville, Forest Glen, High Falls, Highland, Hurley, Kerhonkson, Kingston, Kripplush, Lake Katrine, Lomontville, Milton, Mordant, New Paltz, New Paltz, Plank Road Community, Wallkill and Woodstock.

Local units are celebrating home demonstrations week with

ON THE SUBJECT OF GLOVES

It is curious that the almost never used phrase, "Excuse my glove," is asked about so often in letters sent me.

A woman never asks that her glove be excused! If she is wearing gloves, either indoors or out, she shakes hands with them on and makes no comment. If the gloves are soiled gardening ones or any other gloves her reason for not offering her hand suddenly is held out to him he naturally takes it quickly without being able to remove his glove and says nothing about it. Only when the other man has taken off his glove, and this first one has not had time to do so, does he give his glove and not keep the proffered hand waiting. In this case he may say, "Excuse my glove."

Godchild at Distance

Dear Mrs. Post: Does serving as a godparent obligate one to send presents to the baby regularly? My wife feels that my having promised to serve as godfather by proxy now mean we should send a present every birthday and Christmas.

Answer: Every godparent is expected to send a christening present, but there is no obligation further than that and certainly none to continue sending presents to a child you never see.

Addressing Envelope to Brother and Sister

Dear Mrs. Post: May a sister and brother, both unmarried, who live together and are middle-aged, be addressed on the same wedding invitation?

Answer: Correctly, no.

Do you know the custom for using visiting cards? Mrs. Post has written a leaflet, "Visiting Cards and When to Leave Them," which explains their use fully. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

how to make
SLIP

Simple ToFit Sofa

Many homemakers who take an armchair slip cover in their stride are frightened by the thought of covering a sofa. No need to be—it's really no more complicated than covering a chair.

You proceed in just about the same way, except that now there are three inside back and seat sections instead of one, and covers for three removable cushions. If your material is plaid or has a large motif, the design must be centered on each of the back sections and each of the cushions. By choosing striped fabric, or one with an overall design, you can save yourself this trouble.

Pin your material right on the sofa—or make a paper pattern—then cut, baste and sew.

Whether you want to slip-cover a sofa, armchair, or straight chair, our Reader Service booklet No. 35 tells you how. Illustrated step-by-step directions tell how to measure fit, pin, cut, baste and sew. No patterns to cut, no complicated instructions—anyone can make slip covers successfully.

Send 25 cents (coin) for "Making Slip Covers Successfully" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Reader Service, 243 West 17th street, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, booklet title and No. 35.

K. H. S. Shades Port Jervis in Opener, 4-2

Two Runs in 8th Cop DUSO Opener; Mains on Mound

Economy is a wonderful thing even in a Duso League baseball opener, the Kingston High school squad discovered yesterday when it converted four hits into four runs for an extra inning 4-2 victory over Port Jervis on the tri-state city diamond.

Clark Mains registered his second victory of the campaign, scattering six hits and striking out seven batters. He did not issue a pass and three of Port's six blows came in the fourth inning when the home club scored its two runs. Conroy, Port's veteran flipper, restricted Coach Bill Burke's swingers to a quartet of safeties but his support buckled in the pinches.

Three singles and a Maroon hobble set up Port's two markers in the fourth. The Burkenen came back in the fifth to tie the score at 2-2 as Lay, Mains and Dulin reached first on successive errors and Mains was safe on a fielder's choice.

Kingston's game winning rally in the extra inning (DUSO contests are limited to seven innings) was authentic. Mike Riezo walked and Bob Ghear rifled a single to right field, Riezo reaching third and Ghear taking second on the throw to third. Love's perfect bunt squeezed in what would have been sufficient margin but an extra tally crossed the plate when the shortstop momentarily bobbled Gruenwald's grounder. Mains set Port down in order in the bottom half of the eighth.

Conroy scattered the four Maroon hits among four players—Dulin, Riezo, Ghear and Lay. Engelhart and Salmon each hit safely twice for Port, the latter's double being the only extra base blow of the contest.

Dodgers Face Heavy Slate Over Week-End

It seems a little early and a bit too cold but the Kingston Dodgers face their first "crucial" test of the season tonight under the archlights in Stroudsburg, Pa.

With three straight victories to their credit and an impressive offensive and defensive record to back them up, the Dodgers plunge into a heavy four day-schedule which includes trips to Stroudsburg and Peekskill and a return to the municipal stadium next Tuesday night against Carbondale.

A doubleheader is scheduled against the championship Peekskill club Sunday in Peekskill and this first clash of the league titans is expected to furnish a line on the relative strength of the squads.

Peekskill and Stroudsburg are tied for second place, with two wins and a loss each, and both have their ace hurlers ready for "Sugar" Scherger and company. Reports of the Kingston batting strength has swept through the North Atlantic League like a wartime nylon sale rumor.

Nazareth Wins Two
Chief development in yesterday's North Atlantic schedule, aside from the postponement of the Dodger-Mahonoy City fracas because of cold weather, was Nazareth's double victory over the Nyack Rocklands. For the Rocks it was their second and third straight setbacks of the infant season.

Peekskill shut out Stroudsburg 1-0 in early season classic, while Bloomingdale, Dodger victims in the league opener, crashed the win column, 8-5 over Carbondale, after two setbacks.

Cutter to Start
Manager Scherger plans to rotate Cutter, Sigmund and Seddon in the week-end games. The first two came through impressively against Bloomingdale and Carbondale but unsteady control forced an early exit for Seddon in the home opener with Mahonoy City. The Dodger skipper, however, is high on Seddon's potentialities and is confident the big Canadian will blow over more than one batter before long.

Jerry Orleman's stock was boosted against Mahonoy City, the mercury footed outfielder, going 4 for 5, all on sharp hits.

Lefty Johnson Pitches Waterbury to 4-1 Win

(By The Associated Press)

Waterbury and Stamford, the only members of the brand new Colonial Baseball League hardy enough to get into action despite abnormally cold weather and other handicaps besetting the loop, were all even today by virtue of Waterbury's 4 to 1 victory scored over Stamford last night.

Although the game was close and well-played, a good share of the 300 shivering fans left the Waterbury park before the contest ended.

Avenge the 16-4 pasting his team took at Stamford Thursday night in the first Colonial League game ever played, Lefty Roy Johnson, the home town boy pitching for Waterbury, set the Bombers down with five hits, three of which came in the last inning.

All six teams in the loop hope to get into action tonight. The schedule: New London at Poughkeepsie Bridgeport at Waterbury Port Chester at Stamford

Babe Ruth in Miami
Miami Beach, Fla., May 8 (AP)—Babe Ruth, accompanied by his wife and a nurse, arrived here by air from New York last night to resume his vacation. He had spent two weeks vacationing here last month before leaving for New York to attend the "Babe Ruth Day" ceremonies.

Vines Shares Lead In Houston Open

(Houston, Tex., May 10 (AP)—The field trimmed to some two score players, Houston's $10,000 open golf tournament rolled into its third round today with Bobby Locke of South Africa, Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and Herman Keiser of Akron, O., locked in a tie for the leadership at 138 strokes for 36 holes—six under par.

Locke, making a bid for his first championship along the American tournament trail, laid down a five-under 67 and Keiser duplicated it. While Vines shot a 68 yesterday as the three overhauled Jim Ferrier of San Francisco and Lew Worsham of Oakland, Pa.—the first round leaders. Worsham faltered to a 71 and Ferrier a 72, the former dropping into a tie with Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., at 140 and Ferrier falling to 141.

Jimmy Demaree and Ben Hogan found Memorial Park's rugged 7,241-yard lay-out hard to handle. Hogan again shot an even par 72 and Demaree was one under but tied his three-over 75 of the first round held him down to a tie for eighteenth place.

Tied at 142 were George Schoux of Mamaronock, N. Y., Fred Haas, of New Orleans and Harry Todd of Dallas, while next in line was Buck Luce of Austin, Tex., with 143.

Worff's Clowns Set Workout for Monday

Musial, Greenberg Ailing; Clubs May Suffer for Pennant

New York, May 10 (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Hank Greenberg of the Pittsburgh Pirates, two of the top sluggers in the National League, were on the sidelines today with ailments that may seriously hamper their teams in the pennant race.

Musial left New York yesterday, flying to St. Louis where he hopes an additional examination by Dr. Robert Hyland, the club physician, will postpone an ordered immediate operation for acute appendicitis.

Greenberg had X-ray pictures taken of his injured right elbow yesterday. Dr. Allen D. Tanney, who examined him, said "Hank definitely has bone chips in his elbow. They probably have been there for some time but this spring bothered him until his hand. He is going to Pittsburgh to see if he can play, nobody can tell what will happen."

"Hank is very anxious to play but there is a possibility that an operation may be necessary."

Wisconsin Crew Favored To Win Upstate Regatta

Ithaca, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Wisconsin's veteran crewmen pulled against Cornell, Harvard and Syracuse today on Cayuga Lake in the midwesterners' first bid for another sweep of the eastern waters they ruled a year ago.

The Badgers, who won three eastern regattas in 1946—a year before their coach figured them "ready"—face dangerous competition from two rivals over the two-mile course.

Harvard already has won twice from usually powerful eastern crews. Cornell's veteran boatload is rated stronger than the Big Red combination which defeated most of the nation's major college navies last June at Seattle.

Syracuse, entering competition for the first time since 1941, has an inexperienced eight.

Hartung's Brilliant Debut As Hurler Stirs Giant Fans

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Clint Hartung, the fabulous New York Giants rookie who was supposed to throw faster than Bobby Feller and hit harder than Babe Ruth, has turned out to be a pitcher.

During a long spring training session, extending from Arizona to Honolulu, Manager Mel Ott toyed with the idea that Big Clint was an outfielder. He started the season with him in left field, still under the same mistaken belief.

Ausanio, Alvarez, Brightwell Foes; Barone vs. Morton

Seeking new talent for B'nai B'rith's boxing card scheduled for Thursday, May 15, featuring Tony Barone and Eddie Morton in a "rubber" match, Ben M. Becker, director of bouts, has procured three proteges of Jake La Motta, one of the country's leading professional middleweights.

Boxers tutored by Jake's trainer, Charlie Galutta, scheduled to box at the municipal auditorium next Thursday are George Pavlak, Bill Hunter and Ben Halley, all of whom are trying to copy the style of their idol at his gym in the Bronx.

Tough One for Brightwell
Pavlak, who is as rugged as La Motta himself, is paired with Newburgh's Jimmy Brightwell, former Oklahoma cowboy Golden Gloves champion, a tough customer as far as taking a punch, and a veritable dynamo when it comes to dish it out. Brightwell, after fighting a sensational five rounder with Al Hurlbut of Rome, came back as a local favorite and knocked out Charlie Jones, 168-pounder from New York.

Hurlbut appeared in the semi-final to the fiery scrap Eddie Morton of Albany won from Schenectady's star waterweight, Tony Barone, who went to the finals in the national A. A. U. tournament at Boston. Morton, replacing Long Island's titleholder, Lou Olmo, upset the dope by decisioning Barone, who previously defeated him in an upstate bout. Thursday's match is the deciding factor in a three-way series. It was arranged at Barone's request, as he intends to become a professional soon, and is bound to be a thriller.

To Meet Ausanio
Bill Hunter, another La Motta stable middleweight, is matched with Kingston's Joe Ausanio, a knockout puncher who polished off Cy Johnson of Albany in 1:10 of the first round and then punished Hubert Allison of Valley Stream with plenty of hard punches to take the nod. Joe counts on continuing his string of wins.

Halley-Alvarez
Ben Halley, a classy little bantamweight, pride of the smaller scrappers in the La Motta camp, will square off with Frankie Alvarez of Schenectady, the boy who outpointed Charlie Green of Valley Stream on the last card, almost stealing the spotlight from the Barone-Morton main attraction.

Alvarez, a battler with plenty of ring acumen, went to the finals at Boston.

The rest of the card will be announced in the near future.

Promises Real Action
Trainer Galutta promised Becker that there will be action galore as far as his La Motta stable is concerned. "All of our boys aim to be as great a fighter as Jake," he advised. "They think he's the greatest battler in the ring today, and boast about his reputation as a spoiler of other boxers' chances of reaching the heights."

Pro fighter who cost Jake plenty by persistently ducking matches with him are Rocky Graziano, Marcel Cerdan, Artie Levine, George Abrams and Steve Bellosie. "They won't fight me because they know I'll knock them out," is La Motta's comment on their refusal to box him.

K.H.S. Choir Will Present Annual Concerts Next Week

The annual concerts of Kingston High School's top ranking A Cappella Choir will be given at the school auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, May 16 and 17.

The choir received the highest rating at the spring sectional competitions in Albany last week-end. Leonard Stine director has announced that the five students who received one ratings in the vocal competitions will be heard as soloists at the concerts as well as five other high rated singers. The pupils who received one ratings are Miss Ruth Pelen, Miss Janet Hornbeck, Donald Laidlaw, James Halbert and Vincent Di Ettore. Other students who will be soloists are the Misses Joan Jablonski, Marilyn Kuntz, Ruth Russell, Jeannette Eason and also John Amarello. Five will sing Friday night and five Saturday.

A group of piano and organ numbers will be played by Bruce Decker at the Hammond organ and Robert Cooper, pianist. They will also accompany the choir.

The program will open with a group of sacred music selections sung a cappella. Compositions from the Russian church liturgy as well as spirituals, contemporary American composers, folk songs and several Fred Waring arrangements will be sung.

Tickets may be obtained from any choir member.

Betty F. Hasbrouck To Be Bride Today

The wedding of Miss Betty Hasbrouck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck, Stone Ridge, will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Marlborough Reformed Church, Stone Ridge. She will become the bride of Henry W. S. Bangert, Jr., son of Mr. Bangert, Sr., of Hollis, L. I.

The bride is a member of the Associated Countrywomen of the World through the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus.

The Associated Countrywomen of the World act as consultants to the United Nations on the status of women. Mrs. Bangert emphasized that all members should take active part in world-wide problems and constructive criticism would be welcomed.

Fashion Show, Skits
Mrs. Dewitt Crowell, the county chairman of clothing, was in charge of the fashion show during which the women who made cotton dresses modeled them.

Skits featuring some of the projects taught in the Home Bureau classes were put on by the members of the Woodstock unit.

Mrs. William Powers, county chairman of the membership, congratulated the group for exceeding the goal, and announced that the present membership is 104. Four units and two new study clubs were formed last year. They are Plank Road Community, Rosendale, Titikson and High Falls units and the C. to C. and Milton Child Study Clubs.

Mrs. Gershon Mount of Ardenia announced that a bus will take all those interested in attending the Eastern District Federation meeting in Riverhead on May 20-21, and she is accepting reservations through May 14.

Mrs. Graham Parish of Lake Katrine reminded the group about the Scholarship Fund and its aim of assisting girls who wish to take the Extension Service and urged each one to remember her contribution of ten cents.

Mrs. Raymond Cunningham was the pianist during the day's activities. Mrs. Arthur Kurtz sang a solo, "The Home Bureau Song," the words of which were written by Mrs. Edward Young, Sr., of Milton. Mrs. Herman Glanz led the women in group singing.

The hostesses for the day were the women of the New Paltz unit who acted as ushers and assumed responsibility for flower arrangements.

Luncheon was served by the Guild of the Dutch Reformed Church.

18 Units Exhibit
Eighteen units had exhibits of work from their last year's projects on the first floor of the American Legion hall. The units having exhibits were: Centerville, Ellenville, Forest Glen, High Falls, Highland, Hurley, Kerhonkson, Kingston, Kripplush, Lake Katrine, Lomenville, Milton, Monticello, New Hurley, New Paltz, Plank Road Community, Wallick and Woodstock.

Local units are celebrating home demonstrations week with a bib.

300 Home Bureau Members Attend Achievement Talk

Influence of Good Home Living Is Stressed; Varied Program at New Paltz

Miss Frances Scudder, state leader of home demonstration agents, spoke on Wednesday to more than 300 Home Bureau members and their friends at the county-wide Achievement Day program held at the American Legion Hall in New Paltz, one of the many activities sponsored by the Home Bureau groups to celebrate National Home Demonstration Week. Miss Scudder was introduced by Mrs. David Dufosse, chairman of the program.

In her talk, "Looking Ahead in Extension," Miss Scudder emphasized the influence of good home living and how it can affect others in daily living and in community and national and international responsibilities. She stressed how important it is for Home Bureau members to strengthen their own lives and enrich them through the information and understandings provided by the Home Bureau program.

Members are reminded that the talent plan has been concluded.

General plans for the affair were made Monday evening at a committee meeting. Serving on committee are Barbara Whelan, Joan Byrnes, Theresa Schatzel, and Betty Bryant, ex officio.

Godchild at Distance
Dear Mrs. Post: Does serving as a godparent obligate one to send presents to the baby regularly? My wife feels that my having promised to serve as godfather by proxy now means we should send this child a present every birthday and Christmas.

Answer: Every godparent is expected to send a christening present, but there is no obligation further than that and certainly not to continue sending presents to a child you never see.

Addressing Envelope to Brother and Sister
Dear Mrs. Post: May a sister and brother, both unmarried, who live together and are middle-aged, be addressed on the same wedding invitation?

Answer: Correctly, no.

ON THE SUBJECT OF GLOVES

It is curious that the almost never used phrase, "Excuse my glove," is asked about so often in letters sent me.

A woman never asks that her glove be excused! If she is wearing gloves, either indoors or out, she shakes hands with them on and makes no comment. If the gloves are soiled gardening ones or any other gloves her reason for not offering her hand. Usually she smiles and comments, "Sorry, I can't shake hands."

Indoors at a ball or on occasion of great formality when a man wears gloves, it is correct that he shake hands with these gloves on. (It would be incorrect for him to remove them.)

The man outdoors with his gloves on does pose a question. Ordinarily he has enough time before shaking hands to remove his right glove. But when it happens that a friend's hand suddenly is held out to him he naturally takes it quickly without being able to remove his glove and says nothing about it. Only when the other man has taken off his glove, and this first one has not had time to do so, does he give his gloved hand and not keep the proffered hand waiting. In this case he may say, "Excuse my glove."

Reader Service how to make SLIP COVERS

Simple ToFit Sofa

Many homemakers who take an armchair slip cover in their stride are frightened by the thought of covering a sofa. No need to be—it's really no more complicated than covering a chair.

You proceed in just about the same way, except that now there are three inside back and seat sections instead of one, and covers for three removable cushions. If your material is plaid or has a large motif, the design must be centered on each of the back sections and each of the cushions. By choosing a striped fabric, or one with an overall design, you can save yourself this trouble.

Pin your material right on the sofa—or make a paper pattern—then cut, baste and sew.

Whether you want to slip-cover a sofa, armchair, or straight chair, our Reader Service booklet No. 35 tells you how. Illustrated step-by-step directions tell how to measure fit, pin, cut, baste and sew. No matter how large, no complicated instructions—any one can make slip covers successfully.

Send 25 cents (coin) for "Making Slip Covers Successfully" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Reader Service, 243 West 17th street, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, booklet title and No. 35.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 10, 1947

JEWISH HOMELAND

The critical situation in Palestine, now before the United Nations, is causing local residents and organization to pause, reflect and act in the interest of a Jewish National Home.

Expressions have come from the Kingston Ministerial Association, the Ulster County Evangelical Fellowship, the Lions Club and from Judge John M. Cashin urging this government to use its offices to further this cause.

Cognizant of the plight of the Jewish people—some six million having been the victims of Hitler's brutality—both Houses of Congress by joint resolution have approved the establishment of a free and independent democratic Jewish commonwealth.

Historically and traditionally the United States has championed and fostered the cause of the Jewish homeland in Palestine and every Chief Executive from Wilson to the present occupant of the White House, has shown warm sympathy and interest for the cause of the Jewish homeland.

At the close of World War I this same issue was before the peacemakers and at that time Palestine was pledged to the Jews as a homeland. It is high time that something was done about it.

The predicament of the Jewish survivors of the war in Europe is altogether pitiable. In behalf of suffering humanity, Christians as well as Jews must hearken. It would seem that until the question of the D. P. Camp and its denizens is settled, there can be no just peace in the world.

The time now has come for a solution of the problem of Jewish homelessness with the granting of a Jewish National Home in Palestine.

FAREWELL, DANDELION!

The dandelion is doomed. Shortly it will become as rare as the dodo, because men and women in laboratories have invented sprays and powders that will do away with weeds entirely. Most of these compounds are not poisons, but food. They work on the principle of feeding dandelions and other lawn pests to the point where the weeds make a sudden tremendous top growth that is beyond the power of their roots to support. As a result they topple over and die.

Because the dandelion and its friends are to become extinct—well, almost extinct—manufacturers of power lawn mowers are altering their product. These powerful devices dedicated to giving America well kept grass for home sites, parks and golf courses, used to be equipped with a sickle bar to keep down weeds. New models are to have few of these special cutters. Chemical weed eradicators are cheaper, more effective and easier to handle.

In a way it's too bad about the dandelions. They are a pretty sight when their brilliant yellow blossoms shine like drops of sunshine against the green of a lawn. Maybe if they become rare, they will be cultivated flowers. Mankind is as perverse as that, and most flowers are only nurtured weeds, after all.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

Mexico's president, Miguel Aleman, and his 14-year-old son, also Miguel, touring this country, stole away from their party the other day and took a ride, incognito, on the New York subway. Later they visited Babe Ruth, and talked in English—about baseball. Miguel Sr. and Jr. confessed they had satisfied two long-time ambitions. They enjoyed themselves immensely, though these events were not included in the schedule of the official visit to the United States.

North Americans will understand these interests of the visiting South Americans. Sometimes international friendship is furthered more by such informal contacts and experiences than by solemn official functions.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE ROLE OF IRVING IVES

Senator Irving Ives of New York was the running mate of Governor Thomas E. Dewey and it is therefore generally assumed that his attitude toward the labor bills in the United States Senate represents the point of view of the Governor who is one of the two leading candidates for the Republican nomination. This has become a matter of political importance as it gives the impression that Governor Dewey and Senator Ives are utilizing labor legislation as a football in intraparty politics. This view is incorrect. Governor Dewey is not supporting Senator Ives' labor position at all. I know for a fact that he is not. The situation is of an unusual nature. Mr. Ives has for many years specialized in labor legislation, being chairman of the Joint Legislative Commission on Labor and Industries of the New York State Legislature. He is the author of labor legislation which is more fair, more just and more equitable than that passed by Congress. Few men have achieved the status of popularity with both labor leaders and employers, which was precisely why Mr. Ives made a good running mate for Mr. Dewey in the last election. For some 18 months Mr. Ives was the dean of a labor school at Cornell University at which those professionally engaged in labor relations on both sides could be trained. He gave up that position for the United States Senate, although he told me at the time that he did so with regrets.

Undoubtedly, Mr. Ives believes that he is more expert in the field of labor relations than either Governor Dewey or Senator Taft. While he would support Governor Dewey and Senator Taft in most party measures, the field of labor relations is a down-prioritized area of activity and there he follows no one. The danger, of course, is that in pursuit of private opinion and private judgment he may wreck his party's legislative program and imperil its opportunities of success in 1948. Senator Ives, in his first term in the United States Senate, possesses neither the experience in national affairs nor the techniques of political maneuvering to be able to move about the mazes of Washington without upsetting more than he knows.

The story goes that Governor Dewey had warned Senator Taft not to appoint Senator Ives to the labor committee if he did not expect difficulties from one who went to the Senate not only as a representative of the State of New York but also as a specialist in this particular field with rigidly positive views on all subjects pertaining to it. Views that transcend party and personal relationships. That story is true and has been used to give the impression of Machiavellian trickery on the part of Dewey. This it is not. The fact is that Senator Ives knew in advance that Dewey would so advise Taft. There can be no mistake about that.

Senator Ives' theory is that a labor law needs to be passed at the present Congress; that if the House bill or a reinforced Senate bill is passed, the President will veto it; and that then no bill will be passed. His view, that excesses will lead to total defeat. Senator Taft, who is more experienced than Senator Ives, and is less likely to be affected by Administration or C.I.O. pressures, does not accept that view. In fact, it is obvious that he and such Democrats as have joined him assume that they can pass their bill over the Presidential veto if necessary.

The difficulty that Senator Ives presents is that he unwittingly creates a cleavage between Governor Dewey and Senator Taft and anticipates a struggle for the candidacy that can well be delayed. In fact, it had been the hope of the friends of both that no battle for the candidacy would develop for a year and that they would go into the convention without the slightest personal rancor. This would strengthen whoever finally achieved the nomination and would help to win what is likely to be a tough election. Senator Ives' private views, developed into a battle of opinion within the party, may stimulate personal antagonisms where they do not now exist.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

APPENDICITIS

A member of the family has an attack of indigestion or pain in the stomach, but as he is not very sick he or the family wait a number of hours before calling the family physician. Later, the pain shifts down to the right lower abdomen in the region of the appendix, but the patient and family think it is only gas and still the physician is not called. As the pain remains in the region of the appendix, but the patient is not very ill, still the physician is not called. As the pain remains in the region of the appendix but the patient is still not very ill, the physician may be called by telephone. After examination of the patient and little or no increase in temperature or pulse, and the abdomen is not hard, he may decide to wait until more symptoms develop. However, he informs the family that he believes appendicitis present and the patient may have to go to the hospital for an operation.

Fortunately, most physicians do not wait for "all" the symptoms of appendicitis to appear before sending the patient to a hospital but some, trying to spare the family the shock and expense of operation, may wait a number of hours hoping for a favorable turn in the symptoms.

In an editorial on appendicitis in "Clinical Medicine," it is stated that the most common error made by the average general practitioner is procrastination. Delay in the physician called for the patient, there may have been a delay by the family in calling the physician or the physician tells the family that the patient may have appendicitis and might need an operation. The family insists that the doctor should be certain of the diagnosis. He will tell the family that he will watch the patient and come in the afternoon or the following morning or some other convenient time. This is a mistake on the part of the physician for two reasons. First, it is best to have the patient in the hospital for observation and diagnosis, rather than keeping him home and the family watch for dangerous symptoms. Second, it is much easier to obtain the consent of the family for an operation with the patient already in the hospital than when he is at home.

reason for worrying about it. As between air and water, there is plenty of room for both. In various ways devotees of both cooperate.

The attraction of water sports in the summertime is plain everywhere, and may continue so indefinitely. Sailing is probably the most beautiful of all outdoor sports, and naturally has an advantage on small lakes and rivers; but as the years pass, more and more people take easily to the air. The birds and fishes get along well enough together in this funny world. Flyers, sailors and canoe-men may end by finding fun together.

Rising prices don't seem to have cramped some people's style. At this year's Kentucky Derby $3,636,603 was bet, $28,000 more than last year, which was the highest on record.

REMAKING JAPAN—UNMAKING OURSELVES

The first consideration before the minds of every Japanese man, woman and youth, from waking to sleeping, and in their dreams, is that they are a vanquished people, ruled by the "Mer-rik-kanis." And that they have to make over their country—which means themselves. But just about the last consideration in the minds of Americans (save for General MacArthur and his little staff) is that Americans are the absolute rulers over ninety million often hysterical, intelligent, obedient, egotistic, often compassionate, ceremonially polite, fatalistically ruthless little brown men and women who comprise the truest national unit ever developed in Asia, whom we are supposed to "make over."

We Americans generally just can't realize or be bothered to try to realize that we are in the position of rulers over another entire nation of another race—which should give pause to those idealists or power-lovers among us who want to set us up as the policemen—actually the government—of the entire world.

American citizen Joe Doakes isn't interested in governing anybody else. It is like pulling teeth to get him interested in governing himself—in making the government of his own republic his business. And so, save for what has happened under the unique man, MacArthur, (a God-blessed miracle, as religionists would call it, or "sport," in scientific language) American authority everywhere abroad degenerates into job-ridden, revenge-taking, class snobbing and playing tricks for other governments and ideologies—as in occupied Germany.

Now it is time for American Joe Doakes to take an interest in what is happening in regard to Japan. It would be just too, too funny for him to shrug and find that everything excellent, spiritual and material, which his Republic possessed at the outbreak of the nasty and senseless contest of violence on the Pacific should be found in conquered and ruined Japan, while everything which brass-hat-ridden, class-ridden and deluded Japan once possessed from had become the hopeless lot of American Joe Doakes.

The Japanese elections of course spurred the old Japanese fascist militarism, but significantly also stepped on the new Red-fascist Communist bid to take over. In a historic commentary General MacArthur (who, for spaced utterances, as well as rhetoric, is the most remarkable public figure in our world) said of the pending Japanese constitution, "This is among the most liberal and progressive national charters in the world." This choice, for the first time in Japanese history, reflected the free will of the majority as against the totalitarian dictates of a minority. . . . The basic issue was a selection between political philosophies. . . . Thousands of Communist adherents were freed from the stern suppression of prison cells. . . . given the fullest liberty and freedom of political action in open and fair competition with democratic forces and beliefs. . . . (Communism) thus had its full chance and on its merits has failed. . . . Marks a new era in the Far East which may well prove vital to the future of civilization."

Now I know that we Americans are almost too proud to learn anything from the bitter experience of the Japanese. Let's try: Here's what this writer wrote in the chapter called "Last Word—Before War" of his book, Behind the Face of Japan, published in 1934—for the title of which he, like the lowest press and others, was dubbed "war-monger." quote from my 1934 statement: "Men, eastern and western, do not change through idealism. They change through trial and error. After disaster they try the preachments. After the carnage, not before, they learn to frugality the work of (The Japanese Christian) Kagawa in the manner expressed by an Italian author: 'Japan may become a crucible in which the knowledge accumulated by the secular experience of the East and West will be fused and amalgamated, giving forth as its product a new form of civilization on a wider basis. But after the carnage, after the carnage.' Those were the last words in my book which got me hated by shallow pacifists and Russian agents who wanted America to back blindly into trouble in Asia. Now General MacArthur attests to the fulfillment of the prophecy."

Let's apply the lessons to the United States of America! Other-wise, the Japanese come out with no military burden, democracy, class equality, and mind-own-business health, which must add up to prosperity and freedom out of present ruin, while we come out with militarism, crushing taxes, bureaucracy, and scoundrelism, world national anemia, which add up to the poverty and tyranny once known in Imperial Japan.

Then our children would repeat, bitterly: "What price—victory?" (Copyright 1947 by John F. Dille Co.)

Proclamation

Palestine Day

WHEREAS, the Balfour Declaration of 1917 and subsequent mandate of the League of Nations solemnly pledged the nations of the world to the establishment of a Jewish National homeland in Palestine; and

WHEREAS, the government and people of the United States subsequently endorsed such program by treaty and by the solemn pronouncement of the congress and of every president since Woodrow Wilson; and

WHEREAS, upon the strength of such pledge, the Jewish people of the world have devoted their zeal and their substance to the fruition of the ideal of a Jewish State in Palestine; and

WHEREAS, the mandatory power has, by various acts and omissions, repudiated the obligations imposed upon it by the mandate and has, by various illegal encroachments, culminating in the White Paper of 1939, attempted to frustrate the establishment of such Jewish Homeland, thereby creating great unrest and threats to peace and security of the world; and

WHEREAS, the problems thus created are presently under a discussion by the United Nations; Now, therefore, be it resolved that Sunday, May 11th, be proclaimed as "Action for Palestine Day," and all inhabitants of this City are urged to support the cause of Jewish National State in Palestine with free and unlimited immigration of the remnants of Jewry thereto, to the end that justice at last be done to these victims of Nazi terror.

'Y' Holds Special Program Showing Community Service

A recreational program featuring "friendly competition" opened at the Y.M.C.A. this morning with the Leaders Club of Kingston High School as host.

The program, instituted nine years ago, consists of games in the upper gym, marching contests, singing, demonstrations of corps leadership in various schools.

A luncheon was served at noon and in the afternoon the groups were scheduled to bowl, swim and engage in volleyball and basketball activities.

The girls arrived in school color uniforms. The regular boys' program activities were carried on through the morning.

The special program was described by "Y" officials as "one of those extra events" sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. for the betterment of the community.

Dwight McEntee, chairman of the current fund drive of the "Y" said he would be pleased to have everyone visit the "Y" during the day to observe this example of "community service and realize why the financial campaign ending Tuesday night deserves the support of every citizen of Kingston."

The highest temperature ever recorded for sea water was 96 degrees, in the Persian Gulf.

Cards Deny Strike Threat Over Negro in Game; Jackie Opines Loop Rugged

Philadelphia, May 10 (AP)—Branch Rickey, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, indicated today he intends using Jackie Robinson, first Negro baseball player in modern league history, at first base.

Robinson's main competitor for the regular first base job with the Dodgers, Howie Schultz, was sold to the Philadelphia Phillies here last night for $50,000.

Rickey disclosed that the Negro star had received several threatening letters.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, said he had received a report recently that the St. Louis Cardinals had planned to strike in protest over Jackie's presence in the Brooklyn lineup.

Owner Sam Breadon of the St. Louis club and his manager, Eddie Dyer, both denied a strike threat on the part of their players.

Burt Shotton, manager of the Dodgers, said "the players in the league have been bending over backward to see that he (Robinson) gets a fair break."

Robinson himself denied any knowledge of the threatened strike and said, "I'm just going along playing the best ball I know and doing my best to make good."

Asked what he thought of major league baseball, Robinson grinned broadly and said: "Boy, it's rugged."

For Firemen's Fish Fry

He's caught a lot of dandies in his time, but Fire Captain "Yank" Albright didn't land this big fellow. The 48-pound striped bass was sent to him by a friend, William Rugar of Hopewell, Va., formerly of Rosendale. Captain Albright says he'd use the gift from the professional fisherman to treat his buddies to a fish fry last night at Cornell House on Abel street. (Freeman Photo)

Brush, Chimney Fires

Firemen were called twice yesterday to check slight fires. The first call at 4:17 p. m. was for a brush fire on Inabrock avenue and the second at 6:50 p. m. was for a chimney fire at the home of Clayton Elmendorf, 79 O'Neil street. The latter had been extinguished before arrival of the firemen.

Harris Gets 15 Days

David Harris, 34, of Woodstock, was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail Friday evening by Justice Fitzsimmons of Woodstock at the conclusion of a trial for assault, third degree. Harris appeared in his own behalf and the district attorney's office was represented by Charles Gaffney. Harris was charged with assault by Nicholas Katsos of Woodstock.

SOME DEMONSTRATION!

The Coast Guard invited 250 New York City high school editors to Floyd Bennett Field to demonstrate its helicopter rescue technique (top). They got in for a real show. Just seconds after the top photo was taken, pilot David Gershowitz made a low pass over the field and knocked off his rear rotary propeller. He quickly pulled his plane away from the watching students but it crashed and burned (bottom photo). No one was hurt. (NEA Telephoto).

Veteran's Corner

Benefits for Disabled Vets

An estimated 300 New York State veterans will benefit by a new ruling whereby veterans with disabilities presumed to be service-connected will enjoy higher priority in being admitted to Veterans Administration hospitals than in the past.

Blind Vets Working

Investigating 1,133 cases of blinded veterans discharged prior to December 1946, the V.A. found that nearly half of these are working or in training for employment.

The majority selected the industrial field, with many choosing business and sales vocations, as also the professional and scientific field, over two-thirds of the latter studying law, social work, vocational guidance and numerous other subjects.

Vets suffering from visual defects, contracted during service tenure, are referred to their local V.A. office to check on benefits coming to them. The V.A. office in Kingston is located at 286 Fair street, with Bill Sheehan as contact representative.

Blinded vets eligible for education and training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act receive subsistence allowances in addition to their disability compensation, the combined total coming to at least $105 a month for single vets or $115 for those with one dependent, with increasing sums for additional dependents.

Aviation for Vets

Veterans interested in aviation are urged to contact Manager Henry Kachler at the Kingston-Ulster Airport, Kachler, a vet of four years with the Naval Air Corps, is currently schooling over 30 ex-servicemen under the G.I. Bill provisions.

On G.I. Schooling

According to a recent V.A. ruling, army and navy reserve personnel who are called to active duty will obtain added credit toward G.I. schooling only when the call to duty is for an indefinite period and the vet serves for 30 days or more.

In general, an eligible World War 2 vet is entitled to one year's training or schooling at government expense, plus an additional month's training for every month of active service up to a maximum of four years.

Vets in full-time employment who attend school on a part-time basis are eligible for subsistence allowances under the following conditions:

Must attend a school of collegiate level for at least two semester hours a week or any other V.A. accredited school for at least six clock hours a week, and the compensation from their full-time employment must be less than $175 a month if they are single, or $200 a month if they have dependents.

52-20 Club

By the end of 1946 only 85,000 of the 14,000,000 World War 2 vets had utilized their entitlement to unemployment allowances. Latest V.A. statistics show that there are 123,000 vets on the Readjustment Allowance rolls in New York state.

Terminal Leave Deadline

The deadline for terminal leave applications is September 1, 1947. Vets who have not applied as yet for their terminal leave payments are urged to act promptly to avoid any delays which might result from an increased number of applications just prior to the deadline date.

Questions and Answers

The following questions were originated by the V.A. to answer some of the many questions brought up by vets:

Q.—Why is a G.I. insurance policy cheaper than a commercial policy?

Q.—Because the government pays the cost of administering the insurance program, and makes no profit on payments from vets.

Q.—When will I start getting dividends on my National Service Life Insurance?

A.—It has not yet been decided definitely. Dividends will be declared when the insurance surplus fund is large enough and dividends can be computed fairly.

Q.—What is necessary to obtain a loan for business purposes?

A.—You must be able to sell yourself and your business ideas to the lender. If he approves of your plan he will send the necessary papers to the V.A. and the V.A. will extend its guaranty to the maximum allowed by the law.

Q.—How much of my business loan will the V.A. guaranty?

A.—Half of your loan, or $2,000, whichever is less.

Q.—How much must be paid for care at a V.A. hospital?

A.—Nothing.

Recess Is Taken

and other work postponed looked for last time or later. M. H. Herzog who employed Terrell for a time testified his employment records showed no lost time. Kenneth Hick of Eastern Factors, Inc. of this city, present employer, said Terrell was employed in the office but had worked for a time in the shop to familiarize himself with parts. He said his records showed no lost time but office employees were not closely checked.

In behalf of Spector Motor Service, Inc., the driver, Nelson, was called and testified he had been engaged in driving for the firm for some time. He was proceeding south toward New York and as he passed through Kingston State Troopers stopped his truck and informed him of the accident. He said he had no prior knowledge of any accident.

Heard No Signal

When about four miles north of Kingston, Nelson said he pulled his truck to the center lane in preparation for turning left to the bypass. He usually did this at a lake Katrine sign which he used as a guide informing him he was approaching Kingston and the bypass. He said he had pulled to the center lane and remained there after passing the lake Katrine sign until he reached the two strip concrete and turned on the bypass. He said he recalled hearing no signal of any car desiring to pass him on the left and knew only of the accident when his truck was stopped and he was questioned and his truck examined and the final devices were tested by State Troopers.

After being questioned by the State Police he was allowed to proceed and the next thing he knew of the matter was some two or three years later when Spector Motor Service informed him he had been commended and he discussed the matter with a man who questioned him on the accident.

Nelson now is in the excavating business for himself.

At the conclusion of the testimony Friday afternoon the matter was adjourned to Monday morning when the case will be finally submitted.

Negotiations Fall Through at Alsen, And Other Plants

Negotiations of management and the union have broken down at three Lehigh Portland Cement Company plants, including the one at Alsen, Howard Rowell, business agent for District 8, United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers (A. F. of L.), reported today according to the Associated Press.

The break, Rowell said, was over wages and hours for packers. He reported that about 400 workers therefore would strike at midnight Thursday when contracts expire. The plants are at Alsen, Buffalo and Union Bridge, Md.

The Associated Press report said that the ten-day-old strike of 6,000 cement workers at 33 plants in the east will be felt in nine eastern states within the next week according to sources in the industry.

Max H. Foley, president of the New York Building Congress, said yesterday he believed that by next Monday "There won't be any work requiring cement going on in New York city or the states affected."

The New England states, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey were listed by a spokesman for the Atlas Portland Cement Company, one of the 20 struck companies, as the states most affected.

A general construction halt on roads and public and private buildings, including homes, was predicted if the strike continued.

The plants, which work on a curbed-inclusive 12 in the Hudson valley of New York, 17 in the Lehigh valley of Pennsylvania, one each in Maine and Maryland, and two at other unlisted eastern locations, industry sources said.

conduct an on-the-spot inquiry in Palestine.

Later, the Arab higher committee called on the United Nations for an independent state of Palestine immediately.

The Jewish agency countered with a demand for free immigration that would build up a Jewish home in the Holy Land first.

The Jewish agency objected to immediate Palestine independence on the grounds that "independence cannot be considered without also considering establishment of a national home for the Jews."

During the discussion, Lebanon prodded Sir Alexander Cadogan for a statement of the British position on acceptance of any ultimate U. N. verdict on Palestine.

"We have tried for years to settle the problem of Palestine. Having failed, we have brought the problem to the United Nations."

"If they can find just solution, we would naturally as a member of the U. N. accept it."

"We should not, however, have the sole responsibility for enforcing a decision which is not acceptable to both parties and not acceptable to our own conscience."

special sessions may be called at which time professional personnel with outstanding polio experts of the area will share their knowledge with local chapter workers. The National Foundation stands ready, at all times, to aid Ulster County Chapter with funds, skill and necessary equipment."

Pamphlets titled "A Message to Parents About Infantile Paralysis" were given out to each member present. This same bulletin will be distributed to 30,000 children prior to the closing of schools and the onset of hot weather.

As Mr. Schmid impressed on the members, "Parents should keep and read these bulletins carefully for it covers such vital facts as 'Quick Action, May Prevent Crippling,' 'Facts Fight Fear,' 'Precautions to Take,' 'Headquarters for Help.' He further said, "Although summer is the polio danger period, still a number of cases have been breaking out during the winter throughout the nation. There is no polio-safe weather."

He ended by saying, "With proper modern care, most polio patients get well, and the majority without crippling." To which Mrs. Wilkinson added, that in "Ulster county the 1946 polio victims were back at their work and play which of course was very gratifying."

Those present were Mrs. Wilkinson, R.N., state supervising nurse in orthopedics, Robert L. Rhinehart, chapter chairman; Raymond Garraghan, chapter treasurer; Joseph McTague, executive secretary; Mrs. William Powers, Raymond Rignall, school chairman; Andrew T. Giddy, Sophie Miller and Wayne Reynolds. Mrs. Carol Connors, Henry Shennan and John H. Mathews were appointed on the nominating committee to present names for the executive board at the next meeting, at which time those elected will be able to start planning and working for the coming winter "March of Dimes" drive.

Boxer With Long Name

Headlines Newburgh Card

Newburgh—Edward Lee Posey, Jr., he demands that he be called by his full name, will box Rafael Beaza, the smiling Puerto Rican from the Bronx, on Monday at the Avalon Recreation Center.

Edward Lee Posey, Jr., two time Golden Glove champion, is a hard puncher. He won the 118-pound class in the New York Golden Gloves and went on to Chicago to score a knockout over his opponent in 1:40 of the second round. Beaza gained the right to meet Posey by beating Al Smith of Valley Stream, L. I., last week at the Avalon ring.

Another champion will appear in the person of Robert Copeland, A metropolitan champion. Copeland went through the national finals until he reached the semi-finals.

A surprise bout, plus five others, are on tap for Monday, according to Matchmaker Peter Montesano.

Mansteel Gives 4-Hits,

Stroudsburg Loses First

(By The Associated Press)

Bob Mansteel of the Peelskill Highlanders bested Stroudsburg's Chet Ross in a North Atlantic League game at Stroudsburg last night 1 to 0.

It was the Peelskill first league loss of the season. Mansteel yielded four hits and Ross gave up six. In other league games Nazareth defeated Nyack 8 to 5 and 5 to 2 in a doubleheader, while Bloomington turned back Carbondale 8 to 5. The Mahoning City-Kingston game was postponed because of cold weather.

New York (St. Nicholas Arena)—Willie Beltram, 136, New York, outpointed Al Guido, 140 4, New York, 10.
